

BARRICK 4 AUTOMATED SAMPLE PREPARATION SYSTEM

This Automated System receives finely crushed samples from ROCKLABS System 2 which was installed four years ago. The crushed material is rotary split, coarsely pulverised, rotary split, finely pulverised and split into test tubes and a plastic cup, ready for analysis.

The first Automated System in the world where the final analytical sample is automatically rotary split from the pulverised material and weighed, ready for analysis.